

Y Training Cord

Description:

The Y training cord is an extremely useful training tool in small to medium enterprises or call centres. This training cord facilitates the connection of two headsets to one connector simultaneously, sharing both incoming and outgoing calls. This training cord functions by pairing to a telephone amplifier or directly to a phone and fits all Accutone headsets with a quick disconnecter (QD). This cord therefore does not have to be replaced when headsets are upgraded.

This pioneering training cord can be used by supervisors or trainers to input into a conversation and offer advice to the employee. As such, the Y training cord offers invaluable assistance in improving the customer service within any business be it professional or call centre based. This can alternatively be used to facilitate a three-way conversation or conference call as the Y Training cord offers more audio clarity than a speaker-phone device.

Features:

- quick disconnecter (QD)
- connects two headsets to one connector simultaneously
- superior audio clarity
- does not need to be replaced when headsets are upgraded